BIDDEFORD, Me., September, 13.—Davis, 1,111; Plaisted, 1,057; scattering, 16, Last year, Davis, 1,007; Smith, greenback, 775; Garcelon, democrat, 327.

BELFAST, September 13.—Republican majority in Belfast 17, last year 141.

PORTLAND, September 13.—51 towns give Davis 21,884, Plaisted 19,794, scattering 130. Last year Davis 21,039, Smith 11,649, Garcelon, 7,001, scattering 112. Aggregate 41,808 against 39,800 last year. Davis majority 1,960 against 2,278 last year; fusion gain 318.

BATH, September 13.—Bath parties polled a full vote. The republican county officers lected by a reduced majority. Representation as before. This city gives Davis 1080, Plaisted 621, Joy 43.

BOSTON, 11 p. m—A dispatch to the Herald from Augusta says the republicans generally concede Plaisted's election and the defeat of Reed for congress in the First district. Blaine thinks there is still a chance of hope for Davis, but a great defeat nevertheless. The legislature is pretty secure for the republicans.

NEW YORK, September 13.—The Times at 11 o'clock to night has the following from Augusta: Returns from the First congressional district indicate the defeat of Reed, republican. Democrats now claim a clean sweep of the state with the Third, Fourth and Fifth districts. The republicans still claim the legislature and governor.

PORTLAND, September 13. One hundred and eighty two towns give Davis 40,092, Plaisted 39,173, scattering 220; total 80,385. The same towns last year gave Davis 39,062, Smith 24,971, Garcelon 12,055, scattering 143; total 76,227. Davis' majority is 1,599, against 1,899 last year, a fusion gain of 300.

The towns to hear from at 11 o'clock, last year gave Davis 30,150, Smith 23,073, Garcelon 9,720, scattering 205, a republican minority of 2843. This indicates about 1,500 fusion majority.

AUGUSTA, September 13 Midnight. The immense crowds that gathered around the headquarters of both parties in the early part of the evening are dispersing. The vote has been very close, but indications now are that the back towns will offset the republican loss in the cities. At the republican headquarters Davis' election is claimed, as are the house and senate. Republican defeat on the representatives in the fourth and fifth districts is conceded. One hundred and eighteen towns gave a net republican loss of about 200 over last year. At the fusion headquarters Plaisted's election is claimed by 2,000 majority, as is three of the five congressmen.

LEWISTON, September 13.—Androscoggin county, complete, gives Davis 4,818, Plaisted 4,506, scattering 31. Last year Davis 4,569, combined democrats and greenbackers 4,450.

AUGUSTA, September 13 The city gives a republican majority of 193; Davis 1,125, Plaisted 899 Nye 10, scattering 3.

NEW YORK, September 13—The democratic national committee rooms to-night indulged in general rejoicing over the returns from Maine. At 11 o'clock, in the republican national headquarters, those gathered there generally conceded that they had lost the state.

LEWISTON, September 13. Congressman Frye is reelected in the second district by about 1,500 majority.

BOSTON, September 13. A dispatch to the Herald says Senator Blaine admits the defeat of Reed, Boutelle and Milliken in the First, Fourth and Fifth congressional districts, a fusion gain of one congressman.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

CHICAGO, September 13. The Times says the success of the fusion ticket in Maine will not only be a source of profound astonishment to the whole country, but will go a long ways towards settling the presidential contest in advance. Its influence will be felt especially in Indiana where the state is most evenly balanced and where it needs nothing more to turn the balance sharply in favor of the democrats. It will give the canvas for Hancock everywhere new life and vigor. The result shows that the majority of the people of a state long republican are willing to abandon the republican party and are convinced the country is in no danger of subjugation by rebel brigadiers.

NEW YORK, September 13.—The Herald concludes the result in Maine puts a new face on the situation by imparting confidence to the democrats and alarming the republicans. It will inflame the zeal and spur the activity of both. The country will now enter on a contest more strenuous and heated than has been witnessed in our politics in a long period.

The Staats Zeitung says the unexpected reverse of the republicans in Maine will have a very discouraging effect on their efforts in Indiana and Ohio, as well as the Pacific states, and claims the result as a democratic victory.

The Tribune says the result will be somewhat of a disappointment to republicans, and lead them out of their over confidence. It also draws attention to the fact that there will be no fusion against republicans in November. The writer continues, a refusal of a large proportion of the voters of the state to condemn the grossest crime ever attempted against an honest ballot is another proof that there is no iniquity which the democratic party will not approve to elect a democratic ticket.

Capture of a Gang of Burglars in Denver.

Interesting Batch of Condensed News.

COLORADO.

Capture of Burglars.

DENVER, September 13.—The Daily Times of to-day has the following account of the capture of three burglars: "Three notorious burglars who have been prowling about the city breaking into houses where a good opportunity for plunder afforded, are in the county jail. They were captured this morning by Deputy Sheriffs Sherman and Howe The men are William Johnson, alias "Reddy," Frank Rainy, alias "Frenchy," and Mike Griffin. The men are charged with several burglaries among which is the one committed at Best & Wilder's commission house on Holladay street some weeks ago, where they went through the safe and secured $118 besides some light goods in the store room. They are also accredited with the burglary of Rhodes' bakery on 16th street, of which the Times made mention in Saturday's issue The men failed to get anything of value here, however, the only thing carried off being some small change in the drawer. One of the captured men confessed to going through McCune's paint shop, where a quantity of tools were carried away. Reddy Johnson had a diamond glass cutter on his person which was stolen from McCune's shop. A tin shop at 358 Larimer street was also visited by this same gang, who cut out the rear window and gained access to the money drawer. From Francis Miller's house, on the corner of 10th and Holladay street, they stole a gold watch and chain and $107 in money. This theft is one of the boldest exploits of this trio of burglars. The watch and money was taken from a pair of pants belonging to Miller, and which hung at the foot of the bed. The three men are about the most expert gang of burglars that has operated in this city for years. They are all hardened criminals of the worst character. Johnson has served the state two years at Canon for burglarizing having been sentenced from here. Griffin contributed a forced stay at the Leavenworth penitentiary for two years and has been arrested here for theft repeatedly but always managed to elude punishment by some flaw in the indictment. Frank Rainy, the third man has been in the county jail for small thefts. The burglaries committed by the gang extended over a period of two or three months and their capture is another evidence of the efficient work of the team, Sherman and Howe."

New Mining Camp

DENVER, September 13. For some time past prospectors and some prominent capitalists have been quietly prospecting on Battle mountain in the Eagle River mining district, thirty miles northwest of Leadville. The developments have progressed and shown such an amount of mineral in that locality that a railroad and telegraph are being pushed forward from Leadville and the [...]rs and capitalists are now going into the new camp in large numbers. The carbonate ores promise from the irregularity of their veins to yield an immediate and most handsome addition to the silver product of the state Smelters have been already started.

GENERAL NEWS.

The New York Campaign.

CHICAGO, September 12. The Inter Ocean's New York special says it has been deemed wise to begin in New York a canvass of exceptional vigor, and maintain it by frequent meetings in various districts and at great halls. The first of the great meetings will be held at the academy of music on Friday evening, when Senator Conkling will make his first speech in the campaign. Ex Governor Hamilton Fish will preside.

It is proposed to make this a great demonstration, and much popular interest is already attached to the meeting. Senator Conkling will speak under the auspices of the Central Garfield and Arthur club, in the recent organization of which Gen. Lloyd Aspinwall was chosen president. The details of the meeting have not been arranged as yet, but it has been denied that admission will be by card.

It was hoped some time ago that definite arrangements would have been made with General Grant to preside at the republican demonstration in this city, but he explains in a letter to General Arthur that this will not be practicable. Other meetings are to be held at which Evarts, Blaine, Sherman, Logan, Frelinghuysen and many others are to speak.

Sherman Confident.

CHICAGO, September 13.—The Inter Ocean's Washington special says Secretary Sherman has returned from his western tour. He says that he had large meetings wherever he went, and the republicans everywhere feel confident. He says he is satisfied of the certainty of Garfield's election in November. He thinks the fight is a close one in Indiana with the chances all in favor of the republicans and that there is no shadow or doubt of carrying Ohio in October The secretary will not leave the capital again before the election and is at his desk at work again as energetically as ever.

Great Fire in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, September 13 About half past seven to-night a fire was discovered in the cellar of the retail fancy goods store of C. H. The whole building is in flames and the prospects are the entire block will be destroyed or greatly damaged. The three stores south are large dry goods houses, five stories high, and very valuable, but the property on the north is of less consequence. The firemen are now making desperate exertions to confine the fire to the furniture house. The Scarrett Co. carry one of the largest stocks in the city and their loss will be heavy.

LATER. The fire is now under control, Scarrett Furniture Co, loss, $75,000, insured; C. H. Moeller, stock, $42 000 insured $25 000; J. & H. Swallow, dry goods damaged by water, $25,000.

General Garfield of Ohio, is a republican of republicans, but it is his simple due, which we gladly pay him, to admit that he has done more than any other single member of his party during the last session of congress to show that it is not impossible for a man to act with a congressional majority, and yet to keep his self respect and the respect of honest men. New York World.

Close up in the center. The left flank has had a temporary reverse.

For pensions, boys in blue need not apply. ex-rebel brigadier, chairman of senate pension committe.

If the republican party were fighting for spoils alone, the reverse in Maine might have a bad effect. But we are fighting for human rights and national existence. The defeat only nerves us to weightier efforts.

It is in order for the republicans to say regarding Maine as the democrats did in regard to Vt. "the Dutch have captured Holland" as Maine has been carried by the fusionists for two successive years. But we wont. A republican can afford to be honest.

The return of Mr. M. J. Gavisk to Denver will be hailed with satisfaction all over the state. He will have charge of the city department of the Denver Times. This is a guarantee that the Times hereafter will be as good a local paper as brains and enterprise can make it.

In our columns appears to day the first of a series of mining letters by Mr. J. L. Loomis, of Leadville. Mr. Loomis intends to visit the leading camps of the Arkansas valley and the Gunnison, and will give the result of his investigations in two letters weekly to the GAZETTE. We take pleasure in making this announcement as Mr. Loomis is a mining expert of recognized standing and withal accurate and honest. The review of the Leadville mines for the year 1878 prepared by him for the GAZETTE was considered at that time the most accurate statement published of Leadville's history and wealth. We have learned to place entire confidence in what he writes concerning mines. Those who desire accurate information regarding the new mining districts should read his letters carefully.

THE ELECTION IN MAINE.

The result in Maine is a great disappointment to the republicans and surprise to the democrats. It is still possible that Davis, the republican candidate may be elected, and even if he is, the result will not have the good moral effect expected by the republicans in Indiana. The chances now are that Plaisted, the fusion candidate is elected by from 1,000 to 2,000 majority and that we have lost one member of congress. The legislature which will elect a successor to Senator Hamlin is surely republican. For the information of those who will closely examine the returns, we will say that the fusion vote for 1879 may be found by adding the votes received by Smith and Garcelon. The fusion vote for 1879 was nearly 700 more than the republican vote. In 1880 the vote for Plaisted represents the fusion vote.

While we frankly make the above admissions, we see no reason for despondency. Thus far we have had a great victory in Vermont and a defeat in Maine. The fusionists will not unite on an electoral ticket in Maine, and therefore the state is sure for Garfield and Arthur in November. It has been a common remark for some years that as Maine went so went the Union, and we presume our democratic friends will make this remark. But there has been a change in recent years in Maine. The election of 1878 will be remembered by many of our readers, when the legislature was captured by the fusionists and the republicans lost two congressmen. It was a great and unexpected defeat, but the republicans made gains in every other close northern state over the democrats. In 1878 the republicans had a plurality in New Jersey of 10,576, though there was a democratic plurality of 11,694 in 1876. Connecticut which went democratic in 1876 by 2,900, was carried by the republicans in 1878 by 2,482 majority. In 1878 the state of New York was carried by a republican plurality of 101,934 while in 1876 the democratic plurality was 23,991. In 1876 from New York 17 republican and 16 democrats were elected to congress, while in 1878 25 republicans and 8 democrats were elected, or a republican gain of 8 in one year. We only mention this to show that the republican defeat in Maine in 1878, which was more overwhelming than this year, had no visible effect on the three close states of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, and may have no great effect this year. All those states made great republican gains in 1878 as compared with the vote of 1876 and 1877.

The greenback movement in Maine is an anomolous thing in modern politics. The whirlwind was a local affair in 1878 and is likely to be this year. The news will cause a temporary check to the Garfield boom, but it will soon be over as in 1878. In no other state are the conditions similar to those in Maine. The result will be to make republicans more determined and active. The suspicion that Hancock may succeed will give to the republican party a vivid conception of the real nature of the contest. It is a combat for the supremacy of great ideas and the recognition in our government of fundamental principles. The results of the war which cost so much in blood and treasure are at stake. The struggle from henceforth will be desperate and bitter. The next seven weeks will be the most exciting we have ever had in American politics. And we have no doubt that the American people who successfully fought to preserve the union, will also triumphantly vote to preserve the results of that terrible struggle.

OF INTEREST TO THE BOYS IN BLUE.

The letter published in the New York Tribune which was written by F. E. Beltzhoover, the democratic representative in congress from the nineteenth Pennsylvania, and has caused such a flutter in democratic circles is as follows:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23, 1880.

DEAR SIR: Your favor was received. I would most cheerfully introduce and urge the passage of a bill, such as you suggest, but WITH THE PRESENT DEMOCRATIC HOUSE PENSION BILLS DO NOT HAVE MUCH FAVOR. It has become almost impossible to get consideration of such a bill at all, and when considered, its chance of passing the house is very remote, and THE REBEL GENERAL WHO IS AT THE HEAD OF THE PENSION COMMITTEE IN THE SENATE IS STILL MORE ADVERSE TO ALLOWING ANY SUCH BILLS TO PASS. It would not be at all probable, therefore, that the bill will be got through. Very truly,

F. E. BELTZHOOVER.

When this letter appeared the writer denounced it as a forgery. The New York Tribune then printed a fac simile of it which is conclusive proof to those familiar with his handwriting. Then E. W. Curriden, to whom the above letter was written, wrote a letter to the Carlisle Herald detailing the circumstances under which the application for a pension was made, and the reply he received. We print a part of the letter, as follows:

CHAMBERSBURG, PA., September 8, 1880.
To the Editor of the Carlisle Herald:

I have read Mr. Beltzhoover's emphatic denial of the authorship of the letter which appeared in the Carlisle Herald of last week over his own signature. As I was the recipient of the letter, I deem it just to myself to state the circumstances under which I received it. While in Shippensburg in the early part of last April I visited a near relative, who had entered upon her 80th year. During my brief stay with her the ebb of life's stream was waning, of property she owned affording her no revenue, etc. Knowing that two of her sons had served in the government defense during the late rebellion and that one of them had fallen in the strife, I inquired whether she had made application for a pension. She replied that she had not, and stated that had she availed herself of the bounty of the government she might have obtained a pension on account of her deceased husband, who was an honorably discharged soldier in the war of 1812. But she shrunk from making the effort. Advised of the fact that an application by her for a pension through the usual processes would be futile, as the time to which the government had confined such grants had then expired, I addressed a communication to Mr. Beltzhoover (in whose district the aged lady resides), and requested him to inform me whether a special act could be passed through congress to enable the government to extend its beneficence to this worthy mother of one of its slain defenders. The letter in question was the response I received from Mr. Beltzhoover. When I read it I was somewhat amazed at its contents, and expected very soon to hear that, prompted by motives of disinterested patriotism, its author had cast his lot with those who were seeking to change the character of the arraigned representation in congress. After showing the letter to several personal friends I filed it away, and probably would not have thought of it again but for several paragraphs which appeared in democratic papers aspersing Professor Little of Dickinson College. * * * * *

The letter as it appeared in the Herald is a correct copy of the original, nothing being omitted therefrom except an allusion to my brother and the address. It contains nothing to indicate to me that it was Mr. Beltzhoover's desire that it should be regarded as private or confidential, or that it expressed sentiments which he was unwilling to avow to the world. There was nothing in the letter, nothing in the subject, nor in our relations which would suggest to me the idea that Mr. Beltzhoover was writing to me in any other than a public capacity and upon a subject wholly public in its nature.

E. W. CURRIDEN.

The above letter is one of the most important documents of the campaign, because it is the opinion of the democrats of the tendencies and feelings of the ex-rebel element. It was evidently not intended for publication as the opinion is not one that a democratic aspirant for office in the north would like to father. It will have no little influence in strengthening the union feeling that it is not well for the country to place its destinies in the control of men who sought to ruin it. It will make our boys in blue hesitate about voting for Hancock, as a vote for him is a vote to retain the ex-rebel brigadier at the head of the committee on pensions.

Governor Cornell is a very conservative man as well as a shrewd manipulator. He says: "New York will unquestionably choose the republican electors. The evidences of success are apparent on every side. Never since 1872 has there been so promising a canvass in this state for the republican party."

Democratic "Free Ballot."

Mr. Blaine tells a good story to illustrate the operations of the Garcelon returning board last winter. A greenbacker, named Fogg, was a member of this renowned body, and after thirty-six republican members of legislature had been counted out, Fogg spoke up and said that they had not given a seat to a single one of his personal friends.

"Now, I want a place for a friend of mine who ran in the Lisbon and Webster districts."

"Why, good God, Fogg," exclaimed one of the councillors, somewhat profoundly, "that friend of yours was beaten by 101 majority."

Fogg was rather staggered at first, but, after studying the returns for a while, he declared that the names of the selectmen in the two republican towns in the district were signed in the same handwriting. The rest of the council examined the signatures, but could not see the similarity.

"Use a microscope," said Fogg.

They looked through a microscope and were convinced, but postponed their final decision until next day. Meanwhile the the republicans got wind of what was up, and by a hard night's drive in the bleak November weather their messengers got the six selectmen from Lisbon and Webster into Augusta next morning, ready to face the tabulators. The selectmen swore that the signatures were written by them, and individually they wrote their names before the council to prove their statements; but the council counted out the republican member just the same, and Fogg's friend got the certificates. Tow-Path Club.

"The Garfield and Arthur National Towpath Club," consisting of business men of Washington, has effected a permanent organization, whose members are to be called "Tow-pathers," or "Towpath Boys," and the officers are to be captain, mates, first and second steersmen, toll-taker, look-out, etc. They propose to hold occasional parades with a canal boat, to be called "The Evening Star," that being the name of the boat on which General Garfield navigated the "Raging Canawl," a boat to be drawn by a rope 100 feet long, each member to carry some article characteristic of canal-boat life. THE SPANISH HEIR.

The Preparations for the All-Important and Expected Event.

The heir to the Spanish throne hasn't yet been born, and the nobles and nurses are sitting around the palace impatient at nature's delay. A much-criticised royal decree enacts that the usual and ancient ceremonial shall be observed in the palace as soon as the royal physicians will declare that her Majesty's delivery is close at hand. The lord chamberlain, Duke of Sixto, has already issued invitations to the diplomatic corps, whose chiefs must be present in the royal antechamber with the ministers of the crown, the chief authorities of Madrid, the principal prelates of church, the presidents, secretaries and delegates and the two houses of Cortes, the delegates of the military and noble orders of knighthood, the deputies of the order of grandees and of the nobility, in all about two hundred and fifty high functionaries and personages, who must hold themselves in readiness at any hour of day and night to obey the invitation of the royal messengers. If it is a boy there will be a salute of twenty one guns, and if it happens to be "only a girl," fifteen guns are considered sufficient. If the birth takes place in daylight, a red flag will be hoisted on the Palace tower for a boy, or a white flag for a girl, and colored lights will be used in case the important event occurs at night. The birth must take place in the presence of Prelates, Ministers and other witnesses. Directly after the royal babe will be placed on a gold basin, covered with a rich lace mantle, and the king will carry the basin out to the distinguished assemblage in the antechamber, and, uncovering the infant, his majesty wills all present to examine and attest to the sex of the new born ere the deed of birth is drawn up by the minister of Grace, and justice as royal prothonotary general. This ceremony is ancient, and considered necessary, lest some spurious infant be afterward introduced.

The gossips say a fuss is impending between the little stranger's two grandmothers—she of Spain and she of Austria. They are already exhibiting great jealousy, and, not being able to settle the dispute as to which is to present the cradle, each has provided one.

And then to name the baby. It's a dreadful thing not to have an heir to the throne, but it seems to be almost as dreadful to have one. If it is a girl baby her name will be Isabella; if a boy baby there's the rub. The young king wants him called Ferdinand, but that name suggests disagreeable recollections to one of the political parties of Spain, and for state reasons he may decide upon something else.—[Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Yorktown Monument.

Ninety nine years ago, only ten days after the battle of Yorktown, a resolution was passed "by the United States in congress assembled," providing for the erection, on the battle-field, of a marble column, adorned with the emblems of the alliance between the United States and his most Christian majesty; and inscribed with a succinct narrative of surrender of Earl Cornwallis to his excellency, General Washington, commander-in-chief of the combined forces of America and France to his excellency, Count de Rochambeau, commanding the auxiliary troops of his most Christian majesty in America, and his excellency Count de Grasse, commander-in-chief the Naval Army of France in Chesapeake." Unfortunately, the resources of the new-born confederation did not equal its enthusiasm, and no steps were ever taken to carry the resolution into effect until this year, when, by an act approved June 7 last, an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars was made, to be expended under the direction of the secretary of war, in erecting the monument or column referred to, with the provision that the material used, instead of being necessarily marble, might be such as the secretary should deem most suitable. By the second clause of the act, the secretary of war was instructed to appoint a commission of three persons to "recommend a suitable design for the said monument, and to prepare a sketch of the emblems," with the "succinct narrative" specified, subject to the approval and adoption of a select joint committee, consisting of thirteen senators and thirteen representatives, this joint committee to have also charge of selecting a site for the monument, and of making arrangements for a fitting celebration of the centennial anniversary of that great victory. In pursuance of these instructions, the secretary of war, Mr. Ramsay, has appointed Mr. Richard M. Hunt, of New York, Mr. Henry Van Brunt, of Boston and Mr. J. Q. A. Ward, of New York, to constitute the commission. Most of our readers will agree with us that a better selection could hardly have been made. [London Figaro.

Sothern's Latest Advertising Dodge.

I went down to Brighton the other day by that delightful Pullman train from Victoria, partly with the intention of visiting Mr. Sothern, who has been reported very ill at London super-Mare. I was just on the point of taking a fly to Hove, when an open carriage drove up to the Old Ship, and a ruddy-faced gentleman, with white hair and mustache, alighted. I recognized the ruddy-faced gentleman as an intimate friend of Mr. Sothern, and from him I learned the truth concerning the eminent comedian's rumored illness. It seems that Mr. Sothern is still in America, actively rehearsing the new piece written for him by Mr. Gilbert, and shortly to be produced in New York. In order to excite public interest and obtain a huge gratuitous advertisement, it was arranged that the ruddy faced gentleman should come to England, impersonate Sothern as well as he could, feign alarming illness, and go to some watering place to be doctored, while sensational telegrams were sent backward and forward across the ocean. This programme has been carried out to the letter, and the ruddy-faced gentleman actually had the cool audacity to laugh over the trick which Sothern, Florence and other trusty friends in the secret had concocted to hoodwink the American public. Of course there is no Sothern at Brighton, and his representative looks far too well to represent a sick man much longer. There he was, chatting at the Old Ship, giving a capital imitation (though only an invitation) of the erratic Dundreary himself in the best of good humor, and at times quite forgetting the role of invalid he should have maintained in order to keep up the deception. After spending half an hour in conversation with me, the pseudo Sothern jumped into his carriage and drove away with a wave of the hand almost worthy of the genuine original.—[London Figaro.

Charlie King is the new janitor of the El Paso club. He is efficient, industrious and polite. "Thanks."

The Daisy Restaurant is now under the the entire management of Mr. J. W. Johnson. It is a good place to get a good lunch.

The Leadville excursion leaves the depot this morning at 11.35 This is your last chance, so do not fail to procure your tickets of either E. P. Howbert or Tribe & Jefferay.

The Pueblo Chieftain brags of a hen's egg almost as large as the hen that laid it. That's nothing. We have seen eggs so large that chickens were contained within their shells.

We have just been shown by Mr. W. B. Jones, some fine watermelons, raised by him at "Tanglewood." After trying those of Mr. Jones' we don't wonder at Dr. Tanner's preference for them as food.

City Marshall Beal informs us that several boys have been caught in the act of breaking windows with stones, and he says if the offence is again repeated that he will place them under lock and key. He has the names of several of them in his possession.

Mr. J. G. Warner, the contractor, will in a few days open a lumber yard on the vacant lot recently purchased by him on the corner of Nevada and Pike's Peak avenues. He will give up the building business entirely and devote his entire time to the lumber business. It is his intention to keep in stock the best of eastern lumber and a large variety to select from.

The excursion from Pueblo, under the auspices of the James Rice hose company of that city, arrived here about ten thirty Sunday morning. Some of the excursionists spent the day in Colorado Springs, while the most of them remained on the train and went to Manitou. On the whole a pleasant time was enjoyed and all returned to Pueblo well satisfied with the day's festivities.

The state will commence to day the laying of the water mains to the Deaf Mute Institute. It will require about 2,000 feet of pipe and connection will be made with the Pike's Peak avenue main. The state will defray the expenses of doing the work, with the understanding that the city when they have occasion to use it, purchase it from the state, paying for the same the actual cost of the work.

We call our readers attention to Messrs. Hallowell & Will's list of lots which appears in their real estate column among the advertisements this morning. These lots are strictly first class and we can recommend them as worthy of the attention of persons looking for desirable residence lots, or investors wishing property to hold for speculative purposes. Messrs Hallowell & Wills have also some nice residences which they offer at low figures.

A very important change will be made in postage rates on newspapers going to foreign countries on and after October first. The rate heretofore has been one cent for every ounce, but in the future it will be one cent for every two ounces. It will thus be seen that papers can be sent to any foreign point within the postal confines at the same rate that they can be sent to any city in the United States.

The Hutchinson family concert party will appear in Court House Hall on Thursday evening, September 23d. They are probably the oldest concert party traveling and have been on the road between thirty and forty years and are well known throughout the entire country. The company contains the same singers as when it last visited Colorado Springs and their coming entertainment promises to be one of much interest.

Fryer Hill Mines.

The Leadville Herald, of last Sunday, has the following concerning the mines on Fryer Hill: "The announcement made yesterday that the Little Chief mine has failed, created a great deal of excitement, but as it has been known for some weeks that the time was fast approaching when the mine would cease to yield, it was no surprise to the general public. Two months ago, as the company was then advised to do, the production of ore should have been limited and the still unbroken ground should have been prospected. New York authority and orders, however prevailed, and the mine is now reduced to a prospect. Mr. John T. Herrick, the new manager arrived yesterday. He has not yet fully decided on the course to pursue. Mr. Pierson, the auditor, is also here.

"The Chrysolite is still pouring forth a large amount of ore. Mr. Charles W. Rolker, the manager of this company, has also arrived. If the product is kept up, all the indebtedness of this company will be settled before the first of October, and there seems a strong probability of a large reserve of ore then still remains.

"The Little Pittsburg has struck ore and is more than paying expenses.

"These three mines have been looked upon as the great backbone of Leadville, and so in a measure they have been. Their failure, or partial suspension, is what has created the panic in stocks and made Leadville mines of low repute in the eastern market. The actual fact, however, is that all of them will continue to produce ore and may yet prove bonanzas. Dividends, however, are a matter for future consideration. While the west side of Fryer hill has, however, become less productive, the east side is looming up greater than ever. The Dunken, Matchless, Hibernia and Robert E. Lee are turning out large quantities of ore, and several more will be added to the list of productive mines. On Carbonate hill the prospects were never so bright. Iron hill is doing as well as usual, and the product from the south side of California gulch is greater than ever before. The La Plata, Rock, Dome and Columbia have vast amounts of ore. The ore shipments are as great as usual. The Grant smelting company was last month receiving 150 tons daily from the Little Chief; now the amount is less than 50 tons. But with all this falling off from one mine the receipts of ore have been greater the past week than for any other week since the works were started. The other smelters are also well supplied, so it cannot be said there is decrease in the ore production. The present surely compares favorably with the past, and there is no ground or reason for discouragement."

Personal.

Messrs. John Potter and Ben Crowell have gone to Leadville.

Mr. J. B. Ormun, of Pueblo, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. H. T. O'Brien is visiting Santa Fé and various other points in southern Colorado and New Mexico.

Mrs. L. K. Bass left for the east on yesterday morning's express. She will visit her old home in Buffalo, New York.

Mr. Irving Howbert spent Sunday at his home here, and returned to Leadville yesterday morning.

Mr. O. D. Hutchinson, the business manager of the Hutchinson family concert party, spent yesterday in the city.

Mr. Fred Scotcher, of the Pueblo Chieftain, was among the excursionists who visited our city on Sunday.

Mr. Wm. Holmes, of Hope Ranch, one of the largest cattle men in El Paso county, made us a pleasant call last evening.

Governor St. John left for Pueblo on the Leadville express Sunday night, where he will spend a few days and then return to his home in Kansas.

Mr. K. B. Armour, of the extensive pork packing firm of Plankinton, Armour & Co., of Kansas City, is among the recent arrivals in the city.

Messrs. C. E. Webber, Frank Boydston, Ed Farwell, Charley Otero, John Robinson and Dave Newton, of Pueblo, took dinner at the National on Sunday.

Mr. Robert Hale, of Glenwood, Iowa, is visiting the city and thinks of settling here permanently. He thinks this is the prettiest place he has ever seen, which shows that Mr. Hale has good taste.

Mr. J. J. Cassidy, an old compositor of the GAZETTE, returned yesterday from Gothic, where he has been the past four months. He is interested in a claim on Rock Creek, which promises to be very good.

Mr. W. L. Marple, the artist, left on the morning train yesterday for his home in St. Louis. He takes with him some fine sketches of various interesting points in this vicinity which he will finish up in his studio at St. Louis.

The police authorities were yesterday informed that the carcasses of twenty Merino bucks had been found on the Divide, not far from Mr. C. R. Husted's residence. The pelts had been removed and it is the prevailing opinion, that the animals had been stolen from some herd and that the thieves failing in their attempts to sell them had removed the pelts and disposed of them. Some of the residents on the Divide claim they saw some bucks answering the number and description of the above in the possession of two white men and one colored man some few days ago. The left ear of all the bucks was cropped.

SILVER CLIFF.

How to Get There and What One Sees After One Gets There.

From a Special Correspondent of the GAZETTE.

LEADVILLE, September 10. For a quick passage from Colorado Springs to Silver Cliff the night train should be taken. This connects at Canon City with the Cliff stages, which leave at 7 a. m. and arrive at their destination at 4:30 p. m. If the noon train be taken at Colorado Springs the night must be spent in Canon. The McClure House furnishes good beds and airy rooms, but has evidently heard of Dr. Tanner. You will, however, make up for a leap breakfast with a good dinner at the Oak Creek house, on the stage route. If you stop at either of the hotels in Silver Cliff you will wish you were at your own fireside. Mine host of the Powell house is a good fellow and does everything in his power for his guests, but the plant is poor and the grade too low for a rich find.

Silver Cliff impressed me favorably. It would be unjust to compare it with Leadville. Some of Leadville's best and worst features are not seen at the Cliff. The city itself gives the impression of neatness, good order, self-satisfaction and steay prosperity. It is evidently a moral town, positively, not comparatively. This is doubtless due in part to the fact that it is a family town. Women and children in the home are the great conservators of morality. The location is delightful. There is fine rolling ground for illimitable expansion, and although there is an entire absence of vegetation, other than grass or weeds, yet the wonderful scenery, combining breadth with beauty and grandeur, gives compensation in its never ceasing changes of light and shade, both in sunshine and storm. Every morning is an inspiration, every evening a vision of glory. The climate is agreeable, except in spring and early summer, when the winds sweep up and down the valley as though it were their chosen play ground.

The chief wants of the city are a railroad, water works, and good hotels. The telegraph and telephone are already secured, the railroad will probably be completed this season, a complete system of water supply will be established within ninety days at a cost of $70,000, and arrangements have already been perfected for a large brick hotel. Real estate is steadily advancing in value and business is active. Nothing is needed to insure the steady growth and increased importance of the city of Silver Cliff but the assured prosperity of its mining interests. The outlook in this direction is flattering. But of this, hereafter. J. D. LOOMIS.

Fruit Raising in Colorado.

The editor of the Saguache Chroniole in a letter to his paper speaks as follows concerning fruit raising in Colorado: "All the spare time at our command, while at Canon City, we put in, in visiting the fruit orchards and the fruit gardens surrounding many of the home residences of citizens. Last year we visited Jesse Frazier's orchard at Florence, nine miles down the Arkansas river from Canon City and published an account thereof. It was no doubt a marvelous account to many who have entertained the ridiculous notion that fruit cannot be grown in Colorado. No doubt many thought it was an exaggerated account, but on the contrary it fell far short of the actual facts. We went down there again a week ago last Monday and found that it was repeating itself this year on a larger scale than last year. We did not have the good fortune to find the proprietor at home either last year or this, and therefore are unable to give exact figures as to the number of trees of different kinds in orchard and the number of each kind in bearing, but we can say of the orchard in general terms that there are at least 2000 apple trees loaded with the most perfect apples we ever saw in any country. Many trees have a larger load of fruit than they can hold. Some are lying wholly prostrate upon the ground; many have props and ropes to keep them from breaking, and many more are so burdened that the lower limbs are trailing on the ground. In the orchard are also many pears, plums, cherries and peach trees, grape vines, and all kinds of small fruit, all of which bore amply this year except the peach trees. Owing to a late frost in the spring, which destroyed the fruit buds there are no peaches at Canon City this year, but the trees were not winter killed in the slightest degree. Mr. Frazier sold about $5,000 worth of fruit last year and he will probably sell more this year. Owing to the perfection of his apples as to freedom from worms and rot, the fineness of texture and flavor, he can readily get a dollar a barrel more for his apples than the market price of the best apples imported, either from the eastern states or from California."

The Lake City World says: "There hangs in our front window a prodigious Early Rose potato, from the ranch of James Sparling, about four miles north of this city at an altitude of 8,400 feet. He has about four acres which he estimates will produce 12 tons weight, or about 100 bushels to the acre. Dr. Rapp also exhibits equally large ones grown in his garden in this city."

Captain De Coursey yesterday sold Mr. O. T. Barker's residence, corner Pike's Peak and Wahsatch avenues to Mrs. H. A. Risley for $3,500.

Stealing a Horse and Carriage.

On Sunday morning about seven o'clock a man giving the name of Winsell accompanied by another gentleman and a child made application at Messrs. Wilbur & Hundley's stable for a horse and buggy. He said he would be gone nearly all day and wanted a good rig, which was given him. Both gentlemen were well dressed and represented that they were stopping at the Colorado Springs hotel and the fact of their having a small child with them served to allay any suspicions which may have arisen in the mind of the man who gave them the conveyance.

Nothing further was thought of the matter until about 12 o'clock Sundy night, when the prolonged absence of the rig aroused some suspicion as to their whereabouts. Mr. J. H. Thompson, who was in charge of the barn at the time, at once instituted a search but without success. Yesterday it was ascertained that the gentleman and child had taken the owl train for Denver Sunday night but no clue of Winsell or the horse and buggy could be found. It is very apparent that it was stolen, as both of the men during their stay in the town registered under various assumed names. At Pascoe's hotel they registered as Mr. Potter and E. V. Hersey and son, while at the Springs hotel they registered as G. Winsell and Ben McDonald and son. Deputy Sheriff Dana started out at once, but nothing had been heard from him up to a late hour last night. Sheriff Spangler, of Arapahoe county, was at once telegraphed to and word was received yesterday afternoon that the man giving the name of McDonald had been arrested and Sheriff Smith went north on the 4 p. m. train to take charge of the prisoner.

GOVERNOR ST. JOHN'S ADDRESS.

An Eloquent and Logical Argument for Temperance.

Court House Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity last Sunday evening by those who had come to listen to the lecture upon temperance by Governor St. John. We don't remember ever to have seen the hall so crowded and, indeed, a great many people went away unable to obtain seats, while many others stood during the lecture. The lecturer's table was decorated with some very handsome flowers placed there by Mrs. J. L. Looms and Mrs. E. R. Wood. The governor's appearance upon the stage was the signal for subdued applause, the fact that it was Sunday evening preventing any boisterous demonstrations. Governor St. John's address was of so eloquent a character, however, that his audience frequently responded to his telling points with hearty applause.

The address was one that appealed to the reason and to the feelings of his hearers. His logic and his pathos were irresistible and he carried his audience by storm. The people of Colorado Springs have rarely been favored with an address which is calculated to do more good than the one delivered by Governor St. John in Court House Hall last Sunday evening.

The Pueblo Chieftain says: "Rents in Pueblo are almost double what they were six months ago, and there are no houses to rent."
